

Only in the warp and woof of common life survive and luminesce. And the strength of the weave is in the stories that run through it human existence the strength of the weave is in the stories that run through it collective life

Many Threads — www.manythreads.org

Our mission is to help people from diverse communities bring their perspectives powerfully to bear on public dialogues about a broad range of social issues that affect their lives. We use film, arts and other media as tools to educate and engage people, as well as to amplify the voices of those whose perspectives are not usually heard. Many Threads is a 501(c)3 non-profit organization.
